

BBJ and MHT name 2014's Innovation All-Stars

Oct 17, 2014, 2:14pm EDT

The Boston Business Journal and Mass High Tech have announced the 2014 Innovation All-Stars. This year, two individuals and 15 companies will be honored at District Hall at 75 Northern Ave. on Thursday, Nov. 20.

"Boston continues to grow as a center of innovation, and we are delighted to bring together a fantastic group of people and companies from around the region who exemplify the spirit and entrepreneurship of this thriving sector," said Gale Murray, publisher of the Boston Business Journal.

The company category winners this year include:

Advertising tech: NetProspex and Affinnova

Cleantech: FirstFuel Software

Internet/business software: erecruit, Enservio and Endurance International

Database/storage: Unitrends and NuODB

Hardware: SimpliVity

Education: edX

Emerging Boston Startup: Oasys Water and Jebbit

Medical Devices: Vecna

E-commerce: Invaluable and Ministry of Supply